How are we remunerated?

On products issued and directly supplied by us, we earn income on the margin between wholesale cost of supply and the revenue on sales at prices offered to customers. These margins vary in accordance with the size of the transaction and the type of product. We may also charge fees for products we issue through our various channels. Such fees may be a flat amount per transaction or based on a percentage of the transaction value. Details of our fees are explained in the Product Disclosure Statement for the product or the ordering Terms and Conditions. Any fee payable by you is disclosed before a transaction is settled irrespective of the channel used.

In the instance where we offer to sell you a product on behalf of another issuer or providing entity, we may receive a commission and/or a fee for such transaction.

Such remuneration may be received from:

- Travellers Cheques as retail distributor for Amex. Amex pays Travelex a commission of up to 0.2% of the face value of the Travellers Cheque.
- Cash Passport Cards on behalf of EML Payment Solutions. Under our arrangement with MPMS, we receive:
 1. For in store reloads of AUD: 1.1% or $15 (whichever is higher).
 2. For in store cash-outs: flat fee of $10 plus the FX margin where the withdrawal is in a non-AUD currency.
- Travelex Money Card on behalf of EML Payment Solutions. Under our arrangement with MPMS, we receive:
 1. For in store loads and reloads of AUD: 1.1% or $15 (whichever is higher).
 2. For in store cash-outs: flat fee of $10 plus the FX margin where the withdrawal is in a non-AUD currency.
